War-Time Xmas Gifts

THEY are truly in the spirit of Christmas, for they carry messages of cheer; these tokens of friendship; and never has the nation stood in need of this spiritualizing influence—this force that sustains and increases the morale of the great army at home—as it does this wartime Christmas.

Of course, such gifts are to be of a strictly utilitarian sort-our government requests this-so that no extra tax is put on manufacturing. Indeed, every Christmas stock in this store was manufactured months ago and transported here without the least interference with the government's wartime plans.

Here are the every-day articles that every one needs to carry on living in a sane and sensible way. Here are the many practical remembrances of our boys in camp in the States. For the children-practically everything that means a day, or a period, of happiness to them. And-

For Our Boys "Over There"

-can we really do enough for those who so cheerfully are making so many sacrifices for us? Of course we cannot.

Parents, relatives, sweethearts and friends interested in these boys in service oversea, and who wish to send them CHRISTMAS PACKAGES of sweet things, or some useful toilet accessory, are urged to take advantage of the simple, safe and convenient plan through which we have arranged to help them bring theer to the hearts of these valiant young Americans who are absent this year from their homes, fighting to free the world of the tyranny and rule of the autocrat.

As previously announced, we are taking orders at our Soldiers' and Sailors' Booth (main floor) and having the Christmas packages sent-
